EDT1101e: TRIAL QUIZ – Questions and Answers

1. The following put together, the company's chemistry, people's qualities, and expectations, the tone, and the company's culture makeup what Daniel Goleman terms political awareness

Answer: True

2. A teacher who gets irritated too easily, without any sense that his/her anger is making him/her treat other people abusively is missing the following competencies except

a. Accurate self-assessment

b. Developing good work related social skills

c. Honest understanding of self

d. Leading others extrinsically

Answer: d

3. Emotional intelligence is an inborn trait that can only be mastered in one's childhood stage

Answer: False

4. Self-efficacy is the belief in one's abilities when it comes to taking on difficult tasks and is related to empathy avoidance

Answer: False

5. The most powerful motivators that keep people interested in work are more aligned to external, not internal factors

Answer: False

6. A teacher who makes decisions using pure rationality is likely to find the following except

a. Get always preoccupied with enforcing school rules and regulations

b. Deal with students as if they are objects

c. Become detached from students

d. Have a pro-people attitude

Answer: d

7. ..... is the brain's executive center that guides human activity

a. Reptilian brain

b. Neocortex

c. Mammalian brain

d. Emotional hijack

Answer: b

8. Both reason and emotions are central in deciding moral issues and for that matter should be taken as very critical by all professionals

Answer: True

9. To be adaptable means being open to new information, letting go of odd assumptions, and taking a gamble on a new way of doing things

Answer: True

10. Moral codes, rules, and regulations are always objective, neutral and unbiased and for that matter oppress no group of people.

Answer: False

11. Teachers that are emotionally intelligent need to learn to apologize for their misconduct including extreme aggressiveness and sexual harassment

Answer: False

12. When a teacher is recruited in a school with a poor value system he/she is justified to have low moral standards

Answer: False

13. No individual is free of feelings (pure rationality) because we have feelings about everything we do, think about, imagine, and remember

Answer: True

14. Naturally, women and girls have the art of social and emotional competencies because of their DNA as compared

Answer: False

15. One of the major weaknesses of Kohlberg’s theory of moral development is that he ignores the fact that the individual human being is influenced by real situations

Answer: True

16. The care-based view of morality ignores conditional responsibility (transactional) and instead amplified one’s being for the sake of others

Answer: True

17. The office or staffroom etiquette demands the following except

a. Respecting other teachers’ property

b. Enjoying the liberty of taking a big meal as long as it is your favourite

c. Attending to our callers without interrupting general business

d. Discouraging many visitors while at work

Answer: b

18. Gut feelings are one’s deepest sense of what one feels inside them and is critical information that should never be ignored

Answer: True

19. Emotional awareness may be important but all the same, what makes one a good teacher and leader is the quality of one’s transcript (big is big)

Answer: False

20. The following are barriers (blind spots) to accurate self-assessment except

a. Blind ambition

b. Relentless striving

c. Unrealistic goals

d. Servant leadership

Answer: d

21. Headteachers that kill innovation among their staff emphasize the following practices except

a. Give frequent words of encouragement and compliments

b. Over control – micromanaging every step of the way

c. Surveillance – hovering and constant security

d. Hurried evaluation

Answer: a

22. People in flow (highly motivated) can be engaged in exceptionally demanding tasks, and yet their brain is operating with a minimal level of activity or expenditure of energy

Answer: True

23. Find the odd man out about the competencies that support adaptability

a. Flexibility

b. Innovation

c. Emotional hijack

d. Self-confidence

Answer: c

24. It is not possible for a well-trained graduate teacher to be confronted with a challenge that has no knowable solution

Answer: False

25. A teacher with the motto “Get the job done quickly as you can and get the money” is lacking the competence known as

a. self-motivation

b. extrinsic drive

c. credibility

d. self-awareness

Answer: a

26. When students watch just 30-second snatches of a teacher giving a lecture, they can assess the teacher’s ability with about 80% accuracy. This statement means the following except

a. Internal store of emotional memory is a reservoir of wisdom and judgement

b. We should also struggle to make a good impression

c. Human beings can use gut feelings to make right decisions

d. Teaching is a very easy job

Answer: d

27. Find the odd man out in the school atmosphere that promotes the teachers' creativity and innovation

a. Teachers use learner-centred methods of teaching

b. The head teacher is open to a wide range of ideas from their staff

c. There is too much emphasis on the following of rules and procedures

d. Teachers are delegated to undertake different roles

Answer: c

28. Student teachers who find teaching boring and less appealing will naturally get to appreciate the professional once they join institutions that pay a substantial amount of salary

Answer: False

29. Teachers who are innovative often have the following characteristics except

a. Fear risks and are very critical

b. Find original connections and patterns that others overlook

c. Apply new ideas to achieve results

d. Identify key issues and simplify problems that seem to be very complex

Answer: a

30. The following are key phone etiquettes except

a. In case someone calls you accidentally, ask them where they got your number for security reasons

b. Before receiving a call discontinue any other conversation or activity

c. Learn to listen and don’t be defensive

d. Answering promptly

Answer: a